BRITISH FORCE NOW IN ACTION; ADVANCE ON NAZI TERRITORY

Landing of Expeditionary Force in France Accomplished Without Accident—Ministry Hails Canada's Decision to Give Support—Goering's Speech Criticized—King Visits Posts

LONDON, Sept. 12 (Tuesday) (CP).—British troops have landed in France and have taken part in advances on German territory, the Ministry of Information announced today. The transport of the British expeditionary forces took several days and was accomplished without accident. No details of the units or their positions in France were given.

The announcement "Tommies" were participating in action on the Western Front confirmed reports British troops had been quietly moved from England to the front during the past few days.

The greatest secrecy was observed in the dispatch of the troops, to reduce to a minimum the danger of attack by submarine or aircraft.

CANADA'S PLACE

Last night the Ministry of Information, in a special communique devoted to Canada's entry into the war, hailed the Ottawa decision as an "event of the greatest importance." An earlier communique proclaimed to the world Great Britain's determination to fight for "a return to decency in international relations."

The communique on the Dominion's participation said the decision of Parliament at Ottawa occasioned no surprise in London, but was another example—if one was needed—of the solidarity of the British Empire.

Canada's declaration of war "can not be minimized either by our friends or our foes," the communique said.

Earlier in the day Prime Minister Chamberlain in a message to Canada thanked the Dominion for joining Britain in "the common resistance to German aggression."

Anthony Eden, former Foreign Secretary and now Secretary for Dominion Affairs, in a broadcast said "our determination to see this war through to the end is unshakable," and declared there would be no turning back for the United Kingdom until the final defeat of Hitlerism.

An evening communique of the Information Ministry on Field Marshal Hermann Goering's speech to munition workers Saturday struck the same note.

This communique said Goering's speech revealed "the bankruptcy of German policy."

It continued: "Hitler has made many promises to foreign countries. None of them has been kept. It is

BIG WAREHOUSE SWEEPED BY FIRE

Two Firemen Injured in Vancouver—Estimate Damage $200,000

VANCOUVER, Sept. 11 (CP).—Police tonight held one man on a charge of assault as they joined with fire department officials in investigating the Sunday night blaze that gutted a four-story downtown warehouse estimated at $200,000, and sent two firemen to hospital.

Jack MacNeil was charged with assault after fireman Richard Cioke had been struck with a block of wood when he attempted to question a man standing in front of the burning building when fire equipment rolled up.

INCENDIARISM SUSPECTED

Fire Warden H. C. Howling and Assistant Warden Archie King are checking possibility of incendiary origin caused $400,000 damage to the adjoining Mainland Storage Company's warehouse.

The warehouse was used for storage and manufacturing purposes by a number of firms, including the United Milling & Grain Company, a peanut butter company, a coffee and tea roasting firm and a brewers' supply outfit.

Still in hospital were firemen E. Stackhouse and Calum Smith. Stackhouse suffered shock and a gashed arm from falling glass, and Smith electrical shock when he came in contact with a bare wire in the building.

FORTY DIE IN FIRE

ATHENS, Sept. 11 (AP).—A fire in a movie theatre killed forty persons, mostly children, today on the island of Lemnos, in the Aegean Sea, near the Dardanelles. Eighty other persons were injured.

Resigns as Minister to The United States

SIR HERBERT MARSHALL
CANADIAN Minister to Washington, who has resigned because of failing health. Prime Minister King stated yesterday appointment of successor is to be made shortly.

REPORT U.S. CARGO TAKEN

American Ship Searched at London—Another Halted By German Submarine

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11 (CP).—Reports a United States ship had been stopped by a German submarine, and that goods on another American vessel had been seized by the British Government, drew attention of the State Department tonight.

Officials declined comment, pending reports from embassies in the countries involved, but they indicated the incidents would require the closest study.

Captain N. Nicholson, executive vice-president of the Waterman Steamship Corporation, said his steamship, Waratah, had been halted on Saturday off the Irish coast by a German submarine, and searched thoroughly before being allowed to proceed on her voyage from Glasgow to New York.

He said the master of the ship, Captain G. Self, advised in a cablegram that the submarine crew satisfied itself the freighter carried no contraband. He added the submarine commander warned that future all American vessels which did not obey orders from German submarines to halt, "would be fired upon."

SEIZED IN LONDON

Archie S. Mills, manager of the Columbia Naval Stores Company in the Peninsula, Fla., reported he had been advised 600 barrels of resin consigned to Hamburg aboard another Waterman steamship, the Warrior, had been seized as contraband by the British Government in London.

Mills said he believed the cargo was covered by war risk insurance. The Warrior sailed from Peninsular about a month ago for United Kingdom and German ports via Mobile.

Berlin, meanwhile, came reports from informed quarters that German submarines would make any ship attempting to carry to the United Kingdom any articles on Britain's contraband list. The submarines, it was added, would not proceed strictly according to internationally accepted rules.

No Shortage of Naval Recruits

OTTAWA, Sept. 11 (CP).—Naval headquarters said tonight a large number of applications are being received here and there will be no shortage of recruits for service in the navy.

SOO CANAL GUARDED

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., Sept. 11 (CP).—Residents here saw three powerful searchlights sweeping the skies last night and learned today that the United States is guarding the Soo Canal. A detachment of the 61st United States Anti-Aircraft Coast Artillery, from Fort Sheridan, Ill., also has mounted one anti-aircraft gun.

Judges at Fall Fair Are Warm in Praise Of Livestock Shown

WITHOUT exception, judges of the livestock divisions of the British Columbia Agricultural Association's annual Fall Fair were warm in their praise yesterday of the quality of the animals exhibited.

While in some cases competition was not keen, the judges had nothing but commendation to offer for the standard of the exhibits and the manner in which they were displayed.

Yesterday marked the commencement of the judging of livestock, and it was an especially interesting day for all those concerned with animal husbandry. Many breeders and farmers watched the judges at work

DEFENDERS OF WARSAW HALT GERMAN ARMY

Terrific Bombardment Fails To Break Resistance of Polish Capital

REPORTS FROM BERLIN ADMIT LACK OF GAINS

BUDAPEST, Sept. 12 (T).—The Polish radio station at Warsaw early today announced the German invaders had been halted "dead in their tracks."

It said the capital's besiegers had been forced to retreat and the Poles were resisting attack "on all fronts."

The radio said that the Polish army had established itself in prepared positions along the east bank of the Vistula and had stopped the Nazis.

The front of resistance was described by the announcer as running through Warsaw along the Vistula, south to the river San, thence along the eastern bank of that river to a point near the Slovak frontier.

HOLDING RIVER FRONTS

North of Warsaw the Polish troops were said to be holding on the Vistula, Narew and Bug Rivers in a fan-like spread.

Warsaw, shattered by constant shelling and bombing, was described by the announcer as a spiritual center of resistance. Every house and building was said to be a point of resistance.

A radio announcer identified himself as in Warsaw declared at 10:40 p.m. (1400 p.m. PST) that the city's defenders withstood seven hours of German attack, and that the city's defenders were holding out.

The Warsaw broadcast declared the bombing and shelling of that city continued all day.

Warsaw is now a battlefield, the Warsaw announcer said. "Many houses are ablaze in the open city. Women and children have been killed and wounded. Every house is being turned into an inviolable fortress."

The announcer said sixty invading planes attacked an anti-aircraft battery in the courtyard of a big apartment house. The bombs ignited the building and the fleeing occupants were reported by the announcer.

THREE KILLED IN COLLISION

Five Other Railwaymen Injured in Head-On Smash in Manitoba

SPRINGFIELD, Sept. 11 (CP).—The bodies of three railwaymen killed in the head-on collision of two Canadian National Railway passenger trains, eleven miles east of here, were returned tonight to Winnipeg.

Searchers removed the bodies from the wreckage after the crash. The wreckage was removed from the tracks and the trains were cleared.

The applications are being dealt with as rapidly as possible, the naval headquarters said. It added that applicants would serve their own interests best and assist the department if they communicated with the commanding officer of the Royal Canadian Naval Volunteer Reserve in major Canadian cities.

MINER IS KILLED

BRALORNE, B.C., Sept. 11 (CP).—Gas Kussell, thirty-nine-year-old Swedish miner, was killed instantly at the Bralorne Mine here Sunday when a slab of rock which fell from the ceiling struck him while he was working. He leaves a wife and nine children.

Money Voted to Meet Expenses of Struggle Between Now and March 31—House Leaves Way Clear for Dispatch of Expeditionary Force—Munitions Ministry to Be Created

Is Preparing for Measures Of Economic Co-operation

OTTAWA, Sept. 11 (CP).—The House of Commons tonight passed the Government's $100,000,000 War Appropriation Bill through third reading without a vote and sent it on to the Senate for final approval.

The Senate passed the bill through the three stages in ten minutes. It is now ready for Royal assent.

The measure described as "an act for granting to His Majesty aid for national defence and security" was sponsored by Hon. J. L. Halsey, Minister of National Revenue, and passed through all stages at today's sitting.

The money voted will be in addition to the regular defence department estimates passed at the last session, and will be available to all departments to meet expenses due to the war between now and the end of the fiscal year, March 31.

AMENDMENT READILY BEATEN

The only ripple in the House's unanimity was caused by an attempt by six members of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation and a group of ten Quebec Liberal members to forestall the dispatch of an expeditionary force to Europe. When an amendment with this object reached a vote it was defeated by 151 to 16.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King said the House would assume an expeditionary force was not being considered at the moment, but declared adoption of the amendment would prevent the Government from carrying out measures of air and naval co-operation with Great Britain and France.

Thousands and hundreds of thousands of men now are dying on the battlefields of Europe and the struggle is rapidly extending to other spheres, said the Prime Minister. Great Britain had been attacked from the air and ships had been attacked on the seas.

Enemy submarines were in the Pacific as well as the Atlantic, he said, and there was no telling where submarines or aircraft might strike tonight or tomorrow.

MUST GO OUT AND MEET ENEMY

The place to meet a hostile airplane or submarine was not to wait until it reached Canada, but to go out and strike at it. He appealed to the House to vote on such amendments promptly and not waste time in debate.

The amendment was proposed by Grant MacNeil (C.C.F.-Vancouver North) to a clause authorizing the use of the money voted for the conduct of naval, military and air operations in or beyond Canada. Mr. MacNeil proposed to make the clause read "in or adjacent to Canada."

Special warrants already issued for expenditures totaling $10,454,120 will be part of the amount appropriated by the bill. An indication that the Government is preparing for economic co-operation with the Allies came in a clause authorizing to act as the agent for any British or Allied country for any purpose directly connected with the war. This would make possible the purchase of munitions in Canada for other Governments.

Eden Declares Peace Is Impossible Until Hitlerism Banished

Secretary for Dominions Says Great Britain Is Waging War on Germany "With a Clear Conscience"—Ready for Long War

LONDON, Sept. 11 (A.P. (Via Radio).—Anthony Eden, Secretary of State for Dominion Affairs, in a radio address tonight said "there can be no peace until Nazism is banished from the earth." The people of Great Britain, he said, were prosecuting the war with Germany "with a clear conscience."

"Before war broke out, we did all that words could do," Mr. Eden said. "For us now there will be no turning back. We have no quarrel with the German people. But there can be no peace until Nazism, with its cruelty and persecution, have been banished from the earth."

Hitler, he said, had flouted all the lessons of history, preferring the power of misery and bloodshed.

He reiterated that "our determination is unshaken," and accused Hitler of carrying his "cynical dissimulation" after last year's crisis over Czechoslovakia so far "as to invade Poland."

"Let there be no question about our determination," he said.

"We have decided to fight to show that aggression does not pay, and the German people must realize that this does not pay."

"The people of this country are ready to fight a very long war, if need be, to rid the world of Hitlerism."

SIDE BY SIDE

The Dominions had rallied to the cause in 1914, he said. "Once again the free peoples of the Empire" were side by side.

Great Britain's Colonies, too, the Secretary said, have "each made the cause their own."

"There must be no second mistake," he continued, referring to the first Great War.

Nazism is a passing phase, he said, but in combatting it the people must expect "bitter suffering" and "wide devastation."

"Can we rid Europe of the barriers of caste and prejudice and creed? Can we create a true unity in Europe?"

"While the Nazi system exists, this cannot be. So it must go. By Herr Hitler's decision, our new civilization must be built by war. But it will be built."

Mr. Eden charged that Hitler "deliberately and with set purpose... chose to embark upon a war of naked aggression."

Britons are "ready to fight a very long war to the bitter end if that must be to rid the world of Hitlerism and all that Hitlerism implies," he said.

It was his first broadcast since war was declared.

Poland, said Mr. Eden, was "always ready to negotiate as Czechoslovakia was ready."

PREFERRED FORCE

"Herr Hitler has preferred force. He has made the choice; he must suffer the decision."

"For us now there will be no turning back," Mr. Eden reiterated that Great Britain had "no quarrel with the German people, but there can be no lasting peace until Nazism and all that it stands for in oppression, cruelty and broken faith is banished from the earth. This is an issue that admits no compromise."

"Five times in the last eighty years," said Mr. Eden, "the rulers of Germany have embarked with only the slightest pretext upon a war of aggression; against peaceful

Veteran Service Is Again Organized

THE V.A.D. (Voluntary Aid Detachment), which gave such splendid service during the 1914-1918 war here, is again organizing under the direction of Mrs. Charles E. Wilson and Mrs. W. A. Thorne for similar emergency or other work.

In the top picture is shown the original V.A.D. outside Stadacona House, Stadacona Park, where the unit operated a very efficient emergency hospital during the influenza epidemic of war days. In the lower picture is the nucleus of the new unit, composed of St. John Ambulance nursing and first aid certificate holders.

The actual personnel of each is interesting. Top picture (July, 1916): Sitting on ground:—Lieut. Skelton, —; seated on chairs: Miss Carson, Dr. M. W. Thomas, Mrs. Hannington, R.N., Major K. B. Spurgin, Mrs. C. E. Wilson (commandant), Col. E. C. J. Heneker, Mrs. Curia Sampson (lady superintendent), Capt. Norman Foster, Mrs. Kennedy, R.N., Miss Ashton; first row (standing):—Dr. Home, Mrs. Clayton, Miss Payson, Mrs. Nesbitt, Mrs. C. Holmes, Mrs. L. Duke, Miss Foster, Miss Woodward, Mrs. W. Burton, Capt. T. H. Sell, Miss E. Whitton, Miss Orwin, Miss R. Egeron; back row, Miss A.

Anderson, Miss Litt-Smith, Mrs. Pierce, Mrs. Chadwick, Miss Wardrop. Lower picture—Miss R. Niven, Mrs. A. Crewe, Miss I. Ripley, Mrs. A. G. E. Colough, Miss E. Sage, Mrs. R. Barnes; second row: Mrs. C. Birkett, Miss M. Simms, Miss M. Bell, Mrs. A. Hayward, Mrs. I. Berg, Mrs. F. Sampson, Miss M. Poynter, Mrs. E. J. Harwood, R.N. (nursing officer), Mrs. C. E. Wilson (officer of St. John), Mrs. W. A. Thorne (lady divisional superintendent) and Mrs. E. Rogers (lady ambulance officer).

Denmark in 1864, against Austria in 1866, against France in 1870, against the whole world in 1914 to 1918, and now against France, Poland and Great Britain in 1939."

With such a record, he went on, Germany's present leaders "might well have thought that they should agree to negotiate," but "they preferred yet once more the path of anarchy and war."

Mr. Eden said it was impossible to escape the conclusion that the Treaty of Versailles was not, for the Nazi Government, a grievance to redress but was a pretext for the use of force.

BRITISH TROOPS NOW IN ACTION

therefore, not surprising that no confidence is placed in any assurance he may give, and Great Britain is, therefore, justified in requiring that peace should be concluded with a German Government whose word may be trusted.

"But the German Government have also misled the German people, who were promised 'peace and honor.' They have not got peace because the German Government have deliberately pursued a policy of violence which has made war inevitable. They have not got honor because the world recognizes the crudity and falseness of the German Government charges against Poland. "This 'sacking technique,' as the Premier called it, has become too familiar. There is no country in Europe which does not regard the present German Government as pursuing a dishonorable policy, which is the nucleus of the new unit, composed of St. John Ambulance nursing and first aid certificate holders.

"Great Britain is fighting for a return to decency in international relations. Until this is achieved, no country is safe. Germany may say she has no aims in the West, but the threat of limited German territorial ambitions has been held too often to inspire the slightest confidence.

"AN ENDURING PEACE
"Great Britain does not desire another Versailles, as Goering falsely alleges, nor the collapse of Germany, but a just and enduring peace with any honorable German Government.

"As regards the economic situation, Goering's remarks can have brought little comfort to hearers who already, even before the outbreak of war, have been reduced to such meagre rations. What is to be said of a Government which frivolously embarks on an 'unnecessary war' in economic conditions the gravity of which even Goering's optimism does not venture to conceal from an audience, which is only too well aware of the facts?"

In another communique, the New Zealand Government announced plans to raise a special military force to defend the Dominion or serve as an expeditionary army abroad. The force will be made up of volunteers.

The Legislature of British Honduras, chiefs of Barotseland and Angoland in Africa, and the Sultans of Hej and Sibir in Thesien Protectorate, gave pledges of their loyalty and offered support to the Mother Country.

Austrian, Czech and German political refugees living in the Manchester area, placed themselves at the disposal of British authorities for anti-aircraft or any other useful services.

London port authorities announced completion of their passive defence organization with the entry into service of hospital ships which will ply day and night along the Thames.

WOMEN IN TRAINING
The Ministry of Information announced thousands of women will soon be serving with the navy at home ports. Already 1,140 women who received training during peacetime are on duty, including a number of officers.

The King and Queen, carrying gas masks in containers over their shoulders, toured various civil defence posts on the south side of the Thames, accompanied by the Home Secretary, Sir John Anderson.

At the Town Hall the King and Queen inspected the local control room and saw stretcher parties ready for service. In the yard the Queen talked to workmen filling sandbags. At the decontamination centre their Majesties chatted with several men clad in anti-gas uniforms, including oilskin coats and rubber boots.

The Royal Party was cheered by crowds. The King wore the light blue uniform of the marshal of the Royal Air Force. The Queen was dressed in pale blue.

War Office restrictions were announced against the use of cinemas in the vicinity of important national defence centres. The order covers not only military works but telephone and telegraph installations, ports, hospitals, gas and electric plants, gas tanks and petrol tanks.

Labor Minister Ernest Brown, received a deputation representing associations of theatre, motion picture and musical hall artists who urged reopening of entertainment houses, or unemployment compensation in case of continued closing.

The Minister promised to take the request for reopening to the Home Office and assured the committee his department would facilitate relief payments.

Plans of the King and Queen to visit Edinburgh next month have been canceled, it was disclosed in that city today.

enemy warship is required to give the crew warning in time for it to abandon ship. They also pointed out any American ships carrying absolute contraband would be violating this country's embargo, imposed under the Neutrality Act, against the shipping of arms, ammunition and implements of war.

If the ship is carrying conditional contraband, the international law experts say, it cannot be sunk legally, but it can be stopped and its cargo destroyed or seized. In such a case, the contraband must be paid for by the power seizing or destroying it.

IS IN FAVOR OF CONSCRIPTION

Premier Pattullo Advocates Compulsion of Effort To Prosecute War

Conscription of Canadian manpower and wealth in the present war with Germany was advocated by Hon. T. D. Pattullo, Premier of British Columbia, when addressing the annual Pacific Northwest convention of Kiwanis Clubs at a luncheon in the Empress Hotel yesterday.

Speaking to a mixed audience of Canadians and Americans in the hotel ballroom, Premier Pattullo declared: "If the freedom and liberty of the Canadian people is jeopardized, then the place to fight is on foreign soil. I say we should have conscription of everything right now—every man, woman and dollar."

Introduced by Kenneth Ferguson, Victoria, past district governor, as a descendant of Canadian pioneers, and one who knew the Yukon territory and had a broad vision of its importance, the Premier devoted practically all of his remarks to the war situation and its bearing on Canada and the United States.

He pointed out that immediately Great Britain was at war, Canada was at war. "Actually we were at war before Parliament declared war," he said.

MUST PROTECT KING
It would have been an anomalous position were it otherwise, he remarked. "The King of Britain is the King of Canada. The Prime Minister of Canada has the same right of direct access to the King as has the Prime Minister of Great Britain. I, myself, as Premier of this province, have the same right of access as I have to the Lieutenant-Governor, and when His Majesty was here in May I had direct access to him without any intermediary. Therefore, if Great Britain is at war and the King is attacked—he is our King and there is only one honest thing to do. If we won't protect the King, we must say so," Premier Pattullo stated.

Using his audience as a platform to speak frankly, the Premier discussed the relationship of the United States to the war. He recalled to his hearers the pronouncement of President Roosevelt that the United States would not stand idly by and see Canada attacked by a foreign nation.

"We are at war," he declared, "and liable to be attacked. What will the United States do? Will they wait, or carry out the policy of the President. If they carry out that policy—as I believe they will—then if Canada is at war, so is the United States."

TO MAINTAIN LIBERTY
Urging that every effort must be made without delay, Premier Pattullo said that the situation as it is must be faced, and nothing should be done that would make the eventual sacrifice greater. "We must fight to maintain the freedom and liberty we have, and the time to do it is right now," he emphasized.

"I believe that if the United States and Canada were to send a force of 2,000,000 men across the sea, the war would soon be over," he said.

Touching briefly on the Yukon and Northern British Columbia, the Premier told of his recent trip in that territory, and reiterated his belief in the Alaska highway project. "If any part of the United States is vulnerable, it is Alaska. It is an integral part of your country, and your self-respect would not allow it to be taken," he stated, addressing his remarks to the United States delegates present.

Offering his co-operation in the proposed coastal roadway, he said that "while I believe countries live side by side and one of them wants access to part of its territory, then it is our duty to facilitate progress to that end."

WOULD HAVE NO WAR
Speaking in commendation of the Kiwanis convention, Premier Pattullo said that service clubs were doing wonderful work in building up the forces of good will. "If that good will existed the world over, then we would have no war today," he stated.

Bennett O. Khudson of Minnesota, president of Kiwanis International, thanked Premier Pattullo for his address, saying that the delegates from the United States in particular appreciated the honor of hearing the Premier of British Columbia.

Debate Rudo Fromme, Pullman, led the dinner in community singing, and entertainment was provided by Miss Frances Yeend, vocalist from Pullman, Wash., and Messrs Hopkins, Christian and Dallas, a trio brought to the convention by the Eugene Ore. Club.

WASHINGTON POST VACANT

Sir Herbert Marler Resigns As Canadian Minister—New Appointment Soon

OTTAWA, Sept. 11 (C.P.).—Appointment of a new Canadian Minister to Washington will be made shortly. Prime Minister Mackenzie King told the Commons today after announcing that Sir Herbert Marler, the present Minister, had resigned because of ill health.

Sir Herbert, who is sixty-three, has been ill for several months in Montreal Hospital.

Resignation of Sir Herbert left Canada and the United States unrepresented by a Minister in each other's capital, since Daniel C. Roper, former Secretary of Commerce, recently resigned as United States Minister to Canada. Duties of the Minister in both Ottawa and Washington will be carried out by the respective charges d'affaire.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King expressed regret at the resignation of Sir Herbert.

Immediate steps would be taken to appoint a successor, said Mr. Mackenzie King.

APPOINTED IN 1936
Sir Herbert was named Canadian Minister to Washington in 1936, succeeding Hon. W. D. Herridge, who resigned.

During the time he was in Washington, the second trade agreement between Canada and the United States was negotiated. He worked untiringly during the three years he has headed the Canadian legation, and early this summer his health broke down and he was taken to Montreal by plane, where he has been under treatment.

Before going to Washington, Sir Herbert was Canadian Minister to Japan from 1929 to 1936. For a short time in 1925, he was Minister without portfolio in the Mackenzie King Government.

"I regret very deeply to have to inform the House that Sir Herbert Marler has been critically ill for some time," the Prime Minister said. Acting on his behalf, Lady Marler tendered her husband's resignation, and it had been accepted, the Prime Minister said. Sir Herbert was so ill he had not yet been informed of the war.

Dr. Marlon said he and his whole party held a high opinion of Sir Herbert and regretted ill-health had necessitated his resignation.

SERVICE TO CANADA
Thanking Dr. Marlon, the Prime Minister said few Canadians had given such fine service in Canada as a Member of Parliament, a Minister of the Crown, Minister to Japan and Minister to Washington. Resignation of Sir Herbert leaves two major vacancies in Canada's diplomatic corps. A successor to Dr. Randolph Bruce as Minister to Japan is yet to be appointed. His health likewise caused the resignation of Dr. Bruce.

Canada and the United States are both unrepresented by a minister in each other's capital at the moment, since Daniel C. Roper recently resigned his post here as United States Minister to Canada.

Born in Montreal, March 7, 1876, Sir Herbert graduated with honors from McGill University Law School and engaged in the real estate business for thirty years as a partner of his father, W. de M. Marler, professor of real estate law at McGill University.

During the Great War Sir Herbert was Fuel Administrator in Quebec. He entered public life as a member of the Council of Education of the Province of Quebec. In 1921 he was elected to the House of Commons as Liberal Member for St. Lawrence-St. George, a Montreal seat.

Sir Herbert was knighted in 1935 as Knight Commander of St. Michael and St. George.

He is sixty-three years old. At present he is still a patient in the

Proclamation Puts Dominion in State Of War With Reich

The King Gives Assent to Document Which Is Signed by the Governor-General—Complete Text of Royal Order Given

OTTAWA, Sept. 10 (C).—The speed with which the proclamation declaring Canada at war with Germany was issued today after Parliament passed the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne was the subject of comment tonight by those familiar with the procedure necessary.

They explained the start of the proclamation which read: "Whereas by and with the advice of our Privy Council for Canada we have signed our approval of the issue of a proclamation," indicates the proclamation had to have the personal assent of King George VI. The "we" refers to King George VI in his capacity as King of Canada.

It was learned His Majesty did not sign any document personally, but gave his assent. Lord Tweedsmuir, Governor-General of Canada, as the King's representative in Canada, actually signed the proclamation.

The House of Commons rose at 10:25 p.m. Saturday night (7:25 p.m. M.S.T.), and the Cabinet met in emergency session until 1:30 a.m. today. After that it was necessary for officials here to get in touch with Canada House in London. His Majesty was reached in time to have a reply back and the proclamation promulgated at 1:10 o'clock this afternoon.

THE PROCLAMATION

OTTAWA, Sept. 10 (C).—Following is the text of the Royal Proclamation issued today declaring Canada at war with Germany:

(U.S.)
Canada,
George the Sixth by the Grace of God of Great Britain, Ireland and the British Dominions Beyond the Seas, King Defender of the Faith, Emperor of India.

To all to whom these presents shall come or whom the same may in anywise concern.

Greeting.

A PROCLAMATION
Ernest Lapointe,
Attorney-General, Canada.

Whereas by and with the advice of our Privy Council for Canada we have signed our approval of the issue of a proclamation in The Canada Gazette declaring that a state of war with the German Reich exists and has existed in our Dominion of Canada as and from the tenth day of September, 1939.

Now, therefore, we do hereby declare and proclaim that a state of war with the German Reich exists and has existed in our Dominion of Canada as and from the tenth day of September, 1939.

RESTRICTIONS ARE ACCEPTED CHEERFULLY

Drastic Emergency Powers Act Regarded as Inevitable Under Circumstances

By H. J. J. BARGENT
Released by Consolidated News Features
LONDON, Sept. 11.—The Emergency Powers Defence Act, the equivalent of the old Defence of the Realm Act in the past war, is now in full swing in this country, and those who remember the somewhat rueful affection with which old D.O.R.A. was regarded between 1914 and 1918 are wondering whether some kind of nickname will be given to the new measure.

The name "Dora" gave a touch of humor to the law which needed it badly. It was just the sort of first name that old Mrs. Grundy might have had, and the act was indeed the embodiment of all that was Grundy-like, but is the new act going to be called E.P.A.?

By whatever description the new act may go, however, it certainly has teeth and full power and capacity for using them. Although in England, as in America, the doctrine holds good that ignorance of the law is no excuse for breaking it, the British Government has taken care that this country should be made fully aware of the provisions of the measure. Within the act itself, which in fact gives the Government authority to do just what it pleases, there are regulations which have already been widely distributed, providing for over a hundred different circumstances in which the action of the citizen is governed by the new law.

EVACUATION OF CENTRES
For instance, to deal with the burning question of evacuation of crowded centres, the Government can order the compulsory evacuation not only of certain classes of people, but it may also tell them by which route they are to clear out, when they are to do so and where they are to go. This is the first time in the history of this country, and I suppose in the history of any country, that such mass migration by law has ever been instituted.

Then, any premises may be taken over for the use of shelters. Any hospital may be taken over by the Government, and all ambulance services in the hands of municipalities or private concerns may be taken over at a moment's notice by the central authority.

Strict rules have been drafted to prevent anyone jamming broadcasts or wireless telephony or television, and it is also ordered that no one except under licence shall take or send any live pigeon into or out of the United Kingdom. The sport of keeping racing and homing pigeons is very widely practised in the industrial Midlands of this country, and, although it has to some extent been blanketed by greyhound racing, there are still thousands of pigeon fanciers, mostly among the working classes in the centre and north of England.

The abuse that could be made by unscrupulous people of these birds can easily be imagined. The Englishman's frequently quoted tag that his home is his castle gets a bad jolt under the new act. Not only can any Government official on showing his authority, any policeman or even any warden showing his badge enter any premises, if such entrance is deemed to be expedient for the defence of the country, but the Government may order persons to enter any land for the purpose of preventing or minimizing injury to crops or trees, or wastage of pasture by birds, hares, rabbits, deer, etc. In other words, there are a great many people in this country who now hope to get their shooting for nothing this year.

Fishermen are also not forgotten. The Minister of Agriculture, who, although few people know about it, is also Minister of Fisheries, may take control of fisheries and may generally assume the direction of the fishing industry.

The most complicated set of regulations issued under the new act deals with the general control of industry. As I have said, the Government can do as it pleases under the act, and it certainly has taken powers for an absolutist direction of industrial affairs. It can regulate or prohibit the production, treatment, keeping, transport, distribution, acquisition, use or consumption of any article, and in particular it can control the prices at which articles may be sold. Every kind of carriage of goods is, of course, supervised and any books and accounts of business houses can be inspected.

MEASURE INEVITABLE
An act which gives the British Government powers held, and in turn insecurely held, by Hitler and Mussolini, with the help of the bludgeon and the sword is now in force. The man in the street knows that that kind of measure is inevitable in the dark hours through which this country is now going, but he also knows that the men or perhaps the sons of men who administered D.O.R.A. twenty-five years ago, and on the whole did not administer it intolerably, are doing the same with E.P.A.

Whatever harm and hardship the war brought with it, it did at all events teach Britain to organize herself for war. The people have benefited by that discipline, and this writer, who has a recollection of conditions in England during the Great War, is pretty certain that the country will continue to accept war restrictions with little complaint, and that many jokes will be made about E.P.A. in theatres and vaudeville shows. It is also very certain that the Government will not take a leaf out of Dr. Goebbels' book and protect E.P.A. from the humor of the populace.

Funeral Service For Todd Inglis Held on Sunday

SALT SPRING, Sept. 11.—The funeral of Todd Inglis, aged fourteen, who died last Friday in the Lady Minto Gulf Islands Hospital, Ganges, took place at 2 o'clock on Sunday. The service was held at St. Mark's Church, Salt Spring Island.

Rev. C. H. Popham, vicar of the parish, officiated. Mrs. G. B. Young, president of the organ. Following the singing by the congregation of "There's a Friend for Little Children," and the 23rd Psalm, there was a short lesson and prayer. Another hymn, "Onward, Christian Soldiers," and the chanting of the Nunc Dimittis, brought the service to a close.

Interment took place in the Anglican Church Cemetery. Many friends of the family were present at the church and afterwards at the graveside, where a large number of beautiful floral tributes were laid. The pallbearers were: Rowland, Brian, Denis Inglis, Kenneth Goodrich, Kenneth Eaton and Colin Drake.

The late Todd Inglis, whose death was the result of an accident which occurred last January, was the fourth son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Inglis, of Verucius Bay. He is survived by his parents and his three brothers.

NEW WING ADDS SPEED

U.S. Research Scientists Expect Planes to Reach Enormous Speed

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11 (C).—There's a new airplane wing at Langley Field, Va., that is going to carry United States' sky fighters faster than man has ever flown, say the Government scientists at that research centre and army air base.

Within the year, possibly, the United States will use the wing to build airplanes that will flash through the skies at 500 miles an hour, according to the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, which directs research at the centre.

Aeronautical scientists have contended for years that airplanes would never fly faster than 475 miles an hour. They said the "shockwave" would tear a plane to pieces when it reached that speed.

The committee says it has conquered the "shockwave."

PHYSICAL PHENOMENON
This "wave" is a physical phenomenon, which an airplane would encounter if it attained the speed of 475 miles an hour. Scientists assert air flowing over a ship of present design would cause such friction as to create great heat. Air at this temperature would become heavy, like a fluid. For a plane to fly into it would be as disastrous as if it plunged into a body of water.

How the new wing is going to buck the shock wave, the scientists do not explain.

Heavy bombers, as well as light pursuit ships, can use the wing. It would be a "flying wing," having no fuselage, and with motors, rudders and ailerons all set in the wings. The wing spread would be about 160 feet—about twenty feet longer than present ocean airliners' wings. The propellers would be in the rear—the "pusher" type.

The present aircraft speed record, 469,220 miles an hour, was set in April of this year by a German flyer with a stripped down plane.

PREPARING FOR LONG WAR

Great Britain's official determination is to regard the present war as likely to be of three or more years' duration. She will prepare accordingly. This war is, in every probability, likely to take a somewhat similar course to the Great War, and will be one of attrition, with economic pressure and military strength the decisive factors. Italy and Russia are pouring foodstuffs into Germany, and will continue to do so. That is a fact to be remembered. The enemy, this time, can sustain an economic blockade better than twenty-five years ago, because there are open to her new sources of supplies not obtainable then.

In Poland the fiercest fighting is taking place, with the victims of aggression making a strong stand on the rivers Bug and Vistula, and in defence of Warsaw. The Polish capital must by now be partially in ruins, as it is the target of successive air raids, far more numerous than any perpetrated on any city in warfare hitherto. The possibility of the Poles holding the Germans for any length of time is merely a matter of speculation. They are, however, making their first great stand, and are showing a determination worthy of their historic prowess.

On the Western front, nothing more than a process of nibbling has developed. The French, at some points, are on German territory, and holding their ground. They have repulsed counter-attacks, they are harassing their pressure, but when any definite thrust on a wide scale will be attempted is not known. The British are in their battle positions, and some of their units have been engaged. Aerial attacks behind the Siegfried Line have been made with the purpose of interrupting communications by which the Germans bring up troops and supplies to their front.

On the water, the campaign is taking a course strongly reminiscent of the opening weeks of the Great War. German merchantmen have been almost altogether driven from the seas. The submarine attack has resulted in the sinking of fourteen British merchantmen, but the Admiralty is satisfied that the arrangements now made for convoy and for hunting down the enemy's U-boats will gradually reduce the danger to the mercantile marine. That proved so in the last war, and while now submarines have a greater cruising range and are better able to spend long periods without refueling, it is only a question of time before the menace is brought under control. The British know what submarines are capable of. It is known, too, how fast they can build them. There are definite limits to the damage that can be wrought by this branch of naval activity.

So little information is available to the public, and perhaps necessarily so in the opening stages of the war, that there is bound to be a certain uneasiness. It is undoubted, however, that no bad news will be withheld by Great Britain. That is not her way. Whatever is possible, and whatever will not acquit the enemy with Allied intentions, will be made public without delay. There is not much news at the present time, because effort is centred on the routine preparations that follow the opening of any war between such Powers under the conditions of modern fighting. The public must insure itself to suspense and anxiety as its daily portion. It must learn to wait with patience and a stout heart.

OTTAWA'S PREOCCUPATION

There are a number of matters of potential and actual policy in the Dominion which will be suspended on account of the war. Nothing will be done to bring about amendments to the British North America Act until the country is again at peace. Although it should be a matter of immediate war economy to bring the transcontinental railway systems under unified control, that problem will be allowed to drag its weary length as for so many years. The Dominion Government is opposed to unification. Political considerations will not acknowledge the dire need of saving Canada from $50,000,000 to $75,000,000 a year.

Another matter to be shelved will be that of unemployment insurance. The war should, for the time being, prove a panacea for the unemployment problem. Even if Canada confines herself to the meagre programme of co-operation outlined by the Prime Minister, and now being approved by Parliament, it should mean the absorption into industry, or into the naval, military and air services, of some scores of thousands of those who are now on relief. This movement, however, will perhaps only offset the opportunities for work on public undertakings which have been provided for by Ottawa in view of a Federal election, which now is postponed because of the emergency that has arisen.

Except for money needed for the essential services of peaceful pursuits, the strength of the financial resources of the taxpayers will have to be brought to bear on the issue of the war. The first instalment of $100,000,000 is being provided by Parliament. That is for home defence, for what is, comparatively speaking, a quiescent participation in hostilities. When the time comes, after "full consideration," and it is decided that Canada should send an Expeditionary Force to the seat of war, it is hundreds of millions of dollars that will be necessary to assemble, to maintain, to dispatch and to arm those from this Dominion who will be fighting in France, and perhaps elsewhere.

During the course of the Great War, Canada raised 628,000 men. At present she has little more than one-twelfth of that number under arms. In 1914-1918, Great Britain did not ask this Dominion for aid through an Expeditionary Force. It was the manhood of the country that sprang almost overnight to the determination to help the Motherland. The Government's course was decided for it by public opinion. It was an automatic action to secure the necessary votes from Parliament. In the present war it is the Government, not the people, that is deciding, by recommendation to Parliament, the extent of Canada's participation. It is the Government that will decree the amount of money to be spent on defensive preparations.

Viewed as from any angle, it is the war that must remain the chief preoccupation of Ottawa until it is concluded. Its duration will depend on the effort put forth by the British Empire and France. There is no shadow of doubt what Great Britain and her ally intend in this particular. There is doubt about the extent of the co-operation of Canada. This is a war in which, from the beginning, the frontiers of the enemy have been made the point of attack; in other words, that is where the war is. That is where Canada should be. That is where victory will be won, and the world will be released from the bondage of fear.

AIR FORCE ASPIRANTS

For some years, youths have been going to England from Canada to join the Royal Air Force. Some have paid their own way; some have worked their passages. More than 300 have gone from British Columbia alone, and through the good offices of a retired shipmaster, living in this city, they were enabled to enroll on reaching England. Many of these youths applied for service with the Royal Canadian Air Force; they were put on a waiting list, which Ottawa says now numbers 25,000. Since the prospect of being accepted in Canada was so remote, these youths chose the first opportunity to join the Royal Air Force.

There are still scores upon scores of youths in this Province who are anxious to join the Royal Air Force, because they see no prospect of aerial service in Canada. It is only lack of funds that is keeping them at home, and the difficulty in this respect increases with the rising cost of ocean fares. Now that war has ensued it should be possible for the Department of National Defence at Ottawa and the British Air Ministry to make an arrangement whereby those who desire to enlist in Great Britain's air arm would be assisted with transportation to England. Efforts should be made in various localities by those interested to get their Members of Parliament to bring the matter up during the present emergency session.

FASTEST BOAT AFLOAT

Sir Malcolm Campbell's new speed record on water, made on Coniston Water, Lancashire, is an average of 141.74 m.p.h., breaking his own record of 130.93 m.p.h., made last year on Lake Hallwil, in Switzerland. The achievement is put down to improvement in the hull design as effected in his new boat, Bluebird II. The engine used was a twelve-year-old Rolls-Royce of approximately 2,000 h.p. The hull of the boat was designed and constructed by Messrs. Vosper, Limited, Portsmouth, and is based on the principle of the Ventnor hydroplane.

It is believed that what has been brought about in hull design in the fastest boat afloat will afford a lesson in developing the motor torpedo boats now being used by the Royal Navy. "Engineering," says that, "it is likely that the new boat will be capable of even higher speeds, since alternative propellers are still to be tried, and a more powerful engine is available. The system of three-point suspension, in which contact with the water is made at the two forward stabilizers and the after planing surface, has certainly compared well with the more conventional design."

It is of unpractical advantage to possess our minds with an habitual good intention, and to aim all our thoughts, words and actions at some laudable end. — Addison.

A brave man thinks no one his superior who does him an injury; for he has it in his power to make himself superior to the other by forgiving it. — Alexander Pope.

Though reading and conversation may furnish us with many ideas of men and things, yet it is our own meditation that must form our judgment. — Dr. I. Wallis.

Music, in the best sense, does not require novelty; nay, the older it is, and the more we are accustomed to it, the greater its effect. — Goethe.

Note and Comment

By SANDHAM GRAVES

Propaganda is a two-edged weapon. On Monday of last week the Nazi German propaganda machine announced that Nazi troops had entered Warsaw. On Tuesday, this was refuted, with assurance, by the Polish denials were futile. On Wednesday, Germans again said Warsaw was theirs. On Thursday, this was repeated with further assurances. On Friday, to clinch the argument, the propagandists broadcast from Breslau on Warsaw, wavelenght, announcing that that was Warsaw, and that Warsaw was in Nazi German hands. But, to the confusion of everyone excepting the Poles, Warsaw still belonged to the Poles on Saturday, Sunday and again yesterday. Hard people, the Poles. They refuse to believe that their wavelenght has been stolen.

Rumors are mushroom growths. Yesterday morning, for instance, it was anonymously reported that a submarine had been seen in the Strait of Juan de Fuca, in the Pacific. By early forenoon, it was "reliably" reported that an enemy submarine had been seen in the Strait of Juan de Fuca, "just a few minutes ago." By noon, it was equally creditably said that two enemy submarines had been seen pushing their way up Yalet Street, against all opposition. Along towards afternoon they had been reportedly joined by enemy battleships, and all were seen flying in massed formation over the city, with the submarines leading; as a kind of submarine and that Stanley, after inconceivable hardships through the "Dark Continent," finally came upon Livingstone, and, but that's enough. . . . ## NO SLEEP FOR PAT

Pat was dawdling along on his way to work, looking half-asleep. Mike overtook him and slapped him heartily on the back.

"What's wrong with ye this fine morning?" he cried. "It's half-asleep that ye looking."

Pat turned a bleary eye on his friend. "And I tired I am after feeling," he said. "Wasn't I up half the night?"

"What's the trouble?" Mike asked, anxiously.

"It was the cat," replied Pat. "Wasn't I sitting there till gone two waiting for her to come in so I could put her out for the night?"

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

(From The Daily Colonist of September 12, 1889)

Lord Stanley's Visit—At last night's meeting of the City Council, Mayor Grant stated that Lord Stanley, Governor-General of Canada, would be in Victoria on or about October 31. The Mayor was instructed to call a public meeting to make the necessary arrangements for a fitting reception.

New Residences—Tenders are invited by John Teague, architect, for the erection of ten two-story frame residences on the lots facing Douglas and Rae Streets and Churchway. Tenders are to be no later than the evening of a public meeting on the south-east corner of Vancouver and Bell Street. All the above are to be completed as soon as possible.

Open for Traffic—Yesterday afternoon, Alderman Vigliani, chairman of the street committee, accompanied by his energetic supporter, Alderman Harrison, and P. Leach, city surveyor, drove over the new Rock Bay bridge, and declared it formally open for traffic. The swing worked easily, and everything about the bridge was found to give perfect satisfaction. Considerable work has yet to be done on the approaches, but it is being rapidly pushed by Mr. Haggerty, the contractor, on the one side, and by Mr. Dewar on the other.

Visit the Fair—Stanley and Livingstone—Tight Censorship

By Spy

The Annual Provincial Exhibition is open and in full cry for your elect patronage. Thousands attended it on opening day, and thousands more must crowd amongst the popcorn and the pumpkins for the rest of this week.

The exhibits are excellent—the "Midway" whirling—the hogs are fat—the cows are contented—the crowds are merry—so, good airs and madames—forget your momentary worries, take an hour's respite and . . .

Hee thee to the Fair
Now seize thy cloak
And wife and child
And hie thee to the Fair—
The lowly "moke,"
The lion wild
And elephant are there.

The whirling
And painted clown
Are also to be found.
The "greasy pig"
Squeals up and down,
While bullocks paw the ground.

Behold the stalls
Of meats and fruits
And sweets for ev'ry tongue—
Behold the halls
Of meats and boots—
Beware the Brewer's Bung!

See maid and man
With frisking feet,
Loose laughter on the air—
So if you can
Find temper sweet,
Then hie thee to the Fair.

After the Fair, I suggest you run further afield and go see "Stanley and Livingstone." I wonder how many of you knew that Stanley was the "star reporter" of The New York Herald, and that he was dispatched by The Herald to try to find Livingstone purely to "score" over an English publisher who had failed in a similar adventure—and that Stanley, after inconceivable hardships through the "Dark Continent," finally came upon Livingstone, and, but that's enough. . . . I'll be running a very fine, masterfully acted, well-directed picture. Go see for yourselves and you'll gain both spiritually and historically. ### Wasps on Warpath

First aid men at the Y.M.C.A. booth at the Provincial Exhibition were kept busy Saturday.

Though most of the cases treated were not of a serious nature, the great majority of them were children who came to the booth reporting that they had been stung on various parts of their anatomy by mischievous wasps. The yellow-bodied insects are apparently on the warpath at this time of the year, and their stings are anything but pleasant. . . .

One young lad reported to the booth that he had been stung, and wanted the assistants to do what they could for him. Jokingly, one of them asked why he had not defended himself when he saw the insect coming toward him. "I couldn't," said the youngster with a trace of a sob in his voice. "I was on the top of the Ferris wheel, and I just had to hang on and let him bite me."—E.B.

Smart Detection

Outside a recruiting office we noticed a smartly attired Canadian Scottish regiment sergeant majesty twirling a swagger stick. Several old soldiers pointed out the cane bore the regimental emblem of the 88th Victoria Irish Fusiliers. A young single office clerk who suffered considerable badinage at the hands of older employees finally decided to get married just in case conscription became effective. On arrival at his girl friend's house, he became embarrassed and uncertain what to say. Finally he blurted out: "Say, honey. How would you like to get a widow's pension?" Our tobaccoist friend no longer has a rock guard. He threw it at some cat last week. It is a simple matter to say "Thank you" for services cheerfully performed, yet several elevator operators informed us that not one person in 100 uses the words to them. . . .

We venture a guess that there are dozens of city employees who wear special constable's shields for various obscure purposes. Why not organize them into a special emergency squad?—G.B.

Glancing Over Sport

A few more notes from the sports battlement. Those booming sounds throughout the Island districts Saturday morning were not the rumble of invading our beautiful Island, but the opening of another hunting season. It was war all right, but it was man versus bird. The casualty list was reported large in favor of the hunters the first day and is expected to mount heavily as the days pass along. . . . Another bombshell exploded on one of the main courts in the U.S. national tennis championships as the firing continued the second day in Brookline. A sniper named Eddie Allo, young star who performed heroically in the opening battle on the Willows not so long ago, shot last year's runner-up to Don Budge, Gene Mako, out of the tournament as 4,000 spectators looked on in utter amazement. . . . Victoria's glittridion warriors will continue to train, despite the fact their ranks have been greatly reduced by many candidates having joined the colors. Coach George Deacon says the boys will play in the Big Four Canadian football circuit as scheduled and the team will be reinforced for the opening battle in this city late this month. . . . San Francisco Seals brought their big guns into action Friday evening against Seattle and kept up a steady bombardment for sixteen innings until the Rainiers surrendered peacefully after taking two decisive defeats—J.D.

They were the Hamburg-America Line and the North German Lloyd Line, both powerful members before the trouble started. The principal business was to set new rates on an advance scale. While nothing official was announced following the gathering, it was hinted rates to neutral European countries may skyrocket from 20 to 100 per cent, depending upon the demand. It was Bishop D. J. Gercke, of Arizona (left), accompanied by his secretary, Rev. J. Davis, arrived here aboard the Canadian Pacific S.S. Empress of Russia last Saturday night. The clergymen were returning home from a visit to Rome where Bishop Gercke was received by Pope Pius XII and requested to work and pray for peace. The Italian people did not want war, and there were no indications they were preparing for conflict while he was in Italy, Bishop Gercke told ship reporters before leaving Victoria for Seattle.

Wedding Is Celebrated At Oak Bay

The marriage was solemnized between Isobel Louise, youngest daughter of Mrs. Ruddock, 1661 Hollywood Crescent, and the late Mr. Arthur Ruddock, and Mr. Francis Henry Hawkins, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis H. Hawkins, 3344 Birch Road, at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon in St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay.

During the service, which was conducted by Ven. Archdeacon Nunna, the bride and groom stood between tall baskets filled with late summer flowers in shades of rose. Mr. P. T. C. Wickett played the wedding music, and the soloist was Mrs. L. MacLaren.

THE BRIDE

The lovely bride was given away by her brother-in-law, Mr. Lorne W. Campbell, and wore a most becoming tailored suit in the new Fall Queen's blue, with wine accessories and a corsage bouquet of gardenias and roses. Miss Mary Hawkins, sister of the bridegroom, was bridesmaid in an afternoon frock of Regina blue silk crepe with matching accessories and a corsage bouquet of dusty pink roses. Mr. Bert Carey, Powell River, was best man.

Following the service, a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, where tiny dahlias, zinnias, gladioli and larkspur in apricot and pink shades had been attractively arranged. The bride and groom stood between tall baskets of gladioli to receive their friends, who had been welcomed by Mrs. Ruddock in a powder blue lace gown with black accessories, and a shoulder spray of pink carnations and roses, assisted by Mrs. Hawkins, Sr., in black crepe with gold accessories and a corsage bouquet of gardenias.

TABLE ARRANGEMENTS

The refreshment table in the dining-room was arranged entirely in white. The bride's cake stood in folds of white tulle in the centre, between four tall tapers in silver holders, and at each end were artistic pottery vases holding white chrysanthemums and asparagus fern.

Mr. and Mrs. Hawkins left during the afternoon for Seattle en route South, the bride donning a matching blue coat, over her wedding outfit, with a large racoon fur collar. They will live in Vancouver on their return.

Women Are Anxious to Be of Help

VANCOUVER, Sept. 11 (CP).—This war isn't going to be the kind where women sit home and knit socks. Miss Margaret Hyndman, K.C., Toronto, said today when she arrived here on a speaking tour in her capacity as chairman of the executive committee of the Voluntary Registration of Canadian Women.

"Military authorities estimate that the duration of this war will be a minimum of five years," she added. "Visualizing a Canada without men, Women are going to have to replace them on the land, in industry, in every phase of national life. That's why Canadian women have to be organized."

Miss Hyndman thinks women will be more needed at home than overseas. "They all want to drive ambulances in Europe," she said. "But women interested in this line will be more needed at home to drive milk trucks, buses, to work in garages, factories and on farms. 'Everywhere I go, women are clamoring to help,' she added. "They want to know what they can do and they want to start right away. The response has been wonderful."

Women's Institutes

LUXTON AND HAPPY VALLEY
The regular meeting of the Luxton and Happy Valley Women's Institute will be held this evening at 8 o'clock in Luxton Hall.

Junior W.A. Cancels Its Ball Plans

After considerable discussion at the first meeting of the season of the Jubilee Hospital Junior W.A. yesterday afternoon, it was decided not to proceed with plans for the annual hospital ball, arranged to take place at the Empress Hotel next month. Arrangements for some sort of entertainment to raise money for the hospital will be made at a later date.

Miss Vida Shandley, the president, was in the chair, and there was a large attendance. The following new members were welcomed: Mrs. Ronald Newell, Mrs. Andrew Blyth, Mrs. Caverhill, Mrs. Young, Miss Pamela Beard and Miss Faith Cumlin.

TO MAKE DRESSINGS

Arrangements were made to continue the meetings at which hospital dressings are made, and it was decided to hold two meetings each week, on Monday afternoons and on Thursday mornings. Miss Mitchell, director of nursing, appealed to the members to make a special effort to attend these meetings as it was expected that the present war conditions would result in an increased demand upon hospital supplies.

Mrs. Jack Gray, convener of the committee, reported that during the summer one of the members had made 1,650 dressings to add to the supply. Reports of the diets, show case, visiting, vocational and thrift shop committees were read, a certain amount of work having been carried on during the summer. Mrs. W. B. Wilson, convener of the thrift shop committee, announced that the shop will reopen on Saturday. The convener of the various committees were reappointed, and Miss Valerie Kennedy Smith was appointed to assist Miss Layborn on the advertising committee.

BUSY SUMMER

Miss M. McBride, social service worker at the hospital, reported 175 ward interviews, thirty-two home visits, fifteen transportation cases, two layettes given out, boarding home care arranged for seven patients and minor relief provided for two cases.

Mrs. Peter Barr announced that the annual dolls' bazaar will be held on November 29 at the Nurses' Home and members were asked to make dolls' clothes in addition to those being made for individual dolls.

Clubs-Societies

Salt Spring W.A.
Following the Summer vacation, the regular monthly meetings of the Salt Spring branch of the Women's Auxiliary were resumed on Friday afternoon at Ganges Inn, with the president, Mrs. H. Mochhouse, in the chair. The minutes of the last meeting were passed, and in the absence of the treasurer, the financial report was read by Mrs. H. Johnson.

Mrs. H. A. Robinson was later elected temporary treasurer until the return of Mrs. G. B. Young. The sum of $12, which was handed in, was partly derived from the sale of some articles left over from the church sale, and the remainder from donations. Mrs. A. Fenwick became a member of the organization. Mrs. Byron, who was present at the meeting, thanked the president and members for the kindness shown to her during her recent illness in a Victoria hospital. The sum of $3 was voted towards material for a bedspread which Mrs. Fenwick has undertaken to make for the benefit of the W.A. funds. Rev. C. H. Popham, who attended the meeting at the request of the president, offered prayers of intercession. He later spoke of the unavoidable delay in the building of the new Ganges Church. There was the usual fifteen minutes' reading by the president. It was decided: in view of the present situation, that activities for the month would be postponed and the subject brought up for discussion at the next meeting. Tea hostess for the afternoon was Mrs. C. H. Popham.

Ganges United L.A.
The monthly meeting of the Ladies' Aid to the Ganges United Church took place on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. Nobbe. The president, Mrs. J. D. Reid, was in the chair. The financial statement showed over $28 in the bank. Arrangements were made for the cleaning of the church during September. A suggestion that tea elaborate teas be served in future at home regular meetings was well received by members, and it was finally decided that hostesses not complying with the suggestion should be fined. Tea hostesses were Mrs. E. H. Lawson and Mrs. C. W. Baker.

Auxiliary To Donate Incubator

An incubator for the maternity ward of St. Joseph's Hospital will be included among the equipment to be purchased during the year by the Junior W.A. of St. Joseph's Hospital. It was decided at the monthly meeting of the auxiliary held last night in the Nurses' Home, with the president, Miss Rhoda Howard, in the chair.

The members unanimously voted to assist the hospital individually with work arising from the war situation.

On September 23 a rummage sale will be held, with Misses Margaret Howard and Alice Baynes and Mrs. C. Savage forming the committee. To celebrate the tenth anniversary of the auxiliary, a birthday party, to which new and prospective members are invited, will be held on Wednesday, October 11, at the Nurses' Home.

The French, relying on a series of co-ordinated attacks, were said to have taken Besselbach, Ulweiler, Peppenkun and Medelsheim, northwest of the French Maginot fortresses of the Bitche area, and west of the Volmunster.

The French-German clash on French territory took place just east of Saarguemines and southeast of Saarbrücken. The German troops apparently were not connected with any large German advance, but were merely small groups which made charges to outflank positions the French had taken.

EXTEND BATTLEFRONT
The French high command was reported to have extended the French battlefront eastward from the Saar River into the foothills of the Vosges Mountains.

Almost all the great Maginot Line forts from the Moselle to the Rhine were reported operating as bases for an attack, while their big guns pounded the German Siegfried Line.

The area in which the French began a series of attacks this afternoon was a sector north and east of the powerful Maginot fortresses of the Bitche area.

Neutral observers said they thought the western action apparently was designed to relieve pressure on the right wing of the Saar drive, where the Germans were reported to have recaptured a number of positions in the past two days.

German reaction, it was reported in Basel, was to fall back from the outer forts east of the Saar, but to attack violently in the Hornbach sector, opposite the Volmunster.

Later in the evening the picture on the active front looked as if the French were trying to catch the important city of Saarbrücken, which stands less than a mile from the French frontier, between the arms of two attacks, the one from the west, launched today, and the other from the east, launched several days ago to the Saar River.

SUNDAY SCHOOL PRIZES
At St. Saviour's Sunday school on Sunday a silver cup offered by H. Gard was won for the first year by Kathleen Stewart, with a perfect attendance of fifty-two Sundays. June Benton, making an attendance of fifty Sundays, was also presented with a prize. Honorable mention for attendance includes: Hector Renton, Betty White, Bobby Willis, Doris and Grace Barshley, Betty Spiers, and Richard White. Prizes were presented by Mrs. F. V. Venables, superintendent.

TROOPS MOVING UP
Behind the lines, French troops are moving up in a steady stream. Air scouts have reported that on the German side, too, roads are congested and railroads are bringing up an almost continuous line of troop trains.

French flyers said their attacks against German concentration centres and communication lines were hampering the movement of German reinforcements.

The German drive is designed to thrust the French back off German soil—out of the triangle of which the Moselle and Saar Rivers form two sides. It opened with an increasing thunder of artillery, shelling the little tree-dotted valleys where in the first week of fighting the French established advance positions.

From the Luxembourg frontier to Saarbrücken — fifty miles to the southeast — the Germans apparently were taking the initiative, attacking across the Saar Valley.

Fighting swirled around heavily fortified hills and through little villages that dot the rich Saar coal-mining basin.

German troops, mostly young Nazi recruits in this sector, dislodged the French from some advance positions.

During the first shock the German advance apparently was limited to not more than a quarter of a mile. The French immediately threw in more troops and fought the German counter-attack to standstill. French observers, while admitting the Nazi thrust, described it as "without appreciable success."

Despite the desperate nature of the fighting in the Moselle-Saar triangle, the French sources insisted their casualties "had not been high."

REPORT-TOWNS TAKEN
BASEL, Switzerland, Sept. 12 (Tuesday) (AP).—Advancing despite German counter-attacks, French troops were reported, in advances reaching Switzerland today, to have moved up as much as four miles in one sector and to have captured four German towns.

Small patrols of German troops crossed into French territory for the first time in the war early today, Swiss reports said, but they retired to their own side of the frontier after a furious clash with the French.

The French, relying on a series of co-ordinated attacks, were said to have taken Besselbach, Ulweiler, Peppenkun and Medelsheim, northwest of the French Maginot fortresses of the Bitche area, and west of the Volmunster.

MANY ATTEND HORSE SHOW AT WILLOWS

First Night's Programme of Riding Events Feature At Fair

HEAVY DRAFT TEAMS EXHIBIT FINE FORM

The first of the week's horse shows at the Willows exhibition grounds opened last night. Some good horses and some excellent horsemanship were offered as a preface to the week's nightly programmes.

In the competitive events the major interest was in Class 9. Sponsored by His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, this was for hunter classes, the contest consisting of two jumps, one over three feet six inches of timber with six inches of brush at top, and one post and rail. Mrs. H. Judson Fisher's brown mare, Hurrah Kate, ridden by Mrs. Carley, carried off the red ribbon, second and third prizes, respectively, going to the black gelding Midnight, owned and ridden by J. A. Hayes, of Vancouver, and A. J. Macpherson's chestnut gelding, Rob Roy, ridden by the owner. A new horse, the Victoria Riding Academy's gelding, Hero, ridden by Mr. Munro, created a flurry of excitement by refusing the first jump and throwing the rider, and in subsequent tries it became evident that the horse was confused by the lights and could not see the jumps.

Brown Eyes, said to be the ring, seemed to have difficulty.

An accomplished horsewoman was seen in Miss Terese M. Todd in her display in the ladies' polo ponies class (Class 21). Winning the first prize with her own Romney Baw, she also rode G. G. Bais's black mare, Fly, for third place, and the Victoria Riding Academy's entry, Piper, a non-winner. Second place in the competition was won by G. G. Bais's chestnut gelding, Wonder, ridden by Miss Pitt, who also appeared on two other mounts in the class.

CHILDREN'S CLASSES
Juniors provided two interesting events. The children's jumping class (open) was won by Miss V. Yarrow, a post-entry, who well merited the silver cup, donated by Mrs. J. R. Parris, for good performance over the four jumps on Allegro. Second, third and fourth places, respectively, were won by Master P. Burchette on his chestnut gelding, Romney Baw; Sonia Stewart on the chestnut mare, Silver, and Betty Dennison on Mouse. All competitors in this class were under seventeen years.

The other juvenile event was Class 5, children's riding class (open), where the winning of the silver cup donated by R. Shanks was Miss Nancy Jardine, riding the black mare, Bonnie D. There were ribbons only for other competitors: 2 Janet Dennison, on Mouse; 3 Kathleen Bursmith, on Polly; and 4 Miss J. Padmore on Kobay. Competitors in this class, which brought out some stylish young riders, were all under twelve, and horsemanship only counted.

STURDY CLYDEDALES
Despite their rare appearance in the streets, there are still magnificent horses of the draft type. The three four-horse teams competing in the heavy-draft class, which opened the programme, demonstrated this. Most of the animals, all groomed to perfection, weighed over 1,700 pounds, and all three competing teams showed high standard in conformation, manner of going, and equipment. The Crystal Dairy team, of Vancouver, driven by Bert Dahl, was awarded the top money, and second and third places were given to the Captain's, Alham, driven by Charles C. Gordon, and the Robert Thorburn team, driven by Mr. Thorburn.

The Clydesdales in the winning team averaged about 1,800 pounds apiece. Mr. Thorburn, winner of third place, is one of the oldest exhibitors of heavy-draft horses at the Victoria Fair, and has twelve animals at the exhibition this year.

The Fanchen & Macle comedy attractions gave the spectators many a hearty laugh. First of the comedians was the trained mule, Ajax. In a mule-and-buggy circus stunt he showed versatility, as well as ambidexterity. "The football mule" was a neat kicker once the ball was placed in the right position for his deft heels, and almost coupled with this act was the performance of the educated Welsh ponies, gentle and graceful creatures which walked on their hind legs, trotted in the ring with a dog on the saddle-cloth, and gave other evidences of schooling. A laughable burlesque of the noble horse was supplied by two comedians, who called themselves "Charlie the Horse," supplied by Wright & Company. Cunningly educated dogs did backward and forward somersaults, barked barrels deftly, jumped through the hoop, walked on their hind legs, and crossed a tightrope bridge.

Dr. M. Sparrow, Vancouver, was judge of saddle horses, hunters, jumpers, ponies and thoroughbreds, and L. L. Beattie of the heavy horses.

MEMBER WANTS FORCE TRAINED

Howard Green, M.P., Vancouver, Believes Units Should Be Ready

OTTAWA, Sept. 11 (CP).—Howard Green (Con., Vancouver South) expressed an opinion in the House of Commons today, while means of financing Canada's part in the second Great War were being considered, that a Canadian expeditionary force should be recruited and trained at once to be ready when needed abroad.

"I have an old soldier's horror of sending untrained men to war," he said. "You cannot get an expeditionary force overnight."

Mr. Green said there was no hesitation in Australia or New Zealand on the subject of sending an expeditionary force. Canada, nearer Europe and with more natural protection, should take the lead.

Unless there was a clearer declaration from the Government on this point, Mr. Green said he was afraid the impression would go abroad that "we in this Parliament are half-hearted in our conduct of the war."

"If we leave this question of an expeditionary force in the air," said Mr. Green, "believe me we shall have a rapid falling off in recruiting and a rapid decline in the morale of our people."

SERVE AS CANADIANS
Canadian airmen sent overseas should serve as Canadians, in Canadian squadrons, and should not be orphans, merged in the British forces, he declared.

Immediate steps should be taken to break "the vicious circle of rising prices." Already profiteers were reaping their harvest from the war, Mr. Green said, and prices were going up all along the line without justification.

Grant MacNell (C.C.F., Vancouver North) said blunders were made at the outset of the first Great War "by reason of which thousands of young Canadians were sacrificed." He said there was no justification, technical or practical, for sending an expeditionary force to Europe.

The C.C.F. party believed nothing in the present situation justified the shedding of Canadian blood on foreign soil. It believed Canada could best serve the Allied cause by maintaining a strong defence, a strong internal economy and send only economic assistance abroad.

If there was any expeditionary force sent abroad the necessity of conscription was certain to arise regardless of the attitude of the present Government to that question, he asserted.

CURFEW FOR JEWS
BERLIN, Sept. 11 (AP).—The Government today ordered all Jews hitherto to be off the streets by 8 p.m.

CANADA MAY SUPPLY MANY WAR PILOTS

Thousands Reported on Enlistment Waiting List For Air Service

OTTAWA, Sept. 11 (CP).—Canada's warbirds soon may get a chance to spread their wings in European skies with Britain and her Allies in the new war against German aggression.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King has suggested to Parliament that one of the best ways in which this Dominion could immediately aid British would be by dispatch of "trained air personnel" overseas.

There are comparatively few first Great War veterans still on the active list of the Royal Canadian Air Force.

Canada has a permanent air force of some 2,400 men of all ranks, few of which could be immediately spared overseas because of the necessity of defending Canadian territory from enemy air raiders.

MANY ON WAITING LIST

But there is a "backlog" of 25,000 recruits on the R.C.A.F. enlistment waiting list and several thousand more potential recruits among the retired Royal Air Force veterans of the last war. Many would be too old to handle the 350-mile-an-hour fighting aircraft of this war, but could relieve younger men from the supply, training and administrative work of the air force.

In addition, there are perhaps 1,500 or more licensed civilian pilots in the Dominion, and hundreds of fledglings learning to fly either at flying clubs, commercial flying schools or in the non-permanent auxiliary air force, which is largely officered by old warbirds still young enough to keep their hands in.

RESULT OF CONSULTATION

The recommendation arose, the Prime Minister told Parliament, as the result of consultation with the British Government. It is unlikely Britain would have forgotten the heroic role Canadian flying men played in the Great War. Such names as Col. Billy Bishop, Col. Ray Barker, Major Colishaw, Donald McLaren, Roy Brown will remain forever honored in the annals of the Royal Flying Corps and the Royal Air Force.

A few have kept in the aviation picture in civil life. Col. Bishop, now Air Marshal, heads the Air Advisory Council and will furnish his experience to the wartime edition of the R.C.A.F. Colishaw is one of the higher officers of the Royal Air Force, which he has never left since the previous war ended.

There has been no official indication as to when the first Canadian airmen will go overseas. But it is believed that at the moment

Attack Recalls Old Lusitania Medal

THE sinking of the Donaldson liner Athena early last week by a German submarine recalls the sinking of the Lusitania on May 7, 1915, by a German U-boat. At the time of the Lusitania incident, a medal (above) was struck to commemorate "A Great Naval Victory," described by the German newspaper Kölnische Volkszeitung, May 10, 1915, in the following words: "With joyful pride we contemplate this latest deed of our navy." The medal was struck with the object of keeping alive in German hearts the "recollection of the glorious achievement of the German Navy in deliberately destroying an unarmed passenger ship, together with 1,198 non-combatants, men, women and children," as a leaflet distributed with replicas of the medal stated. The medal was dated May 5, 1915, although the sinking did not take place until two days later.

Describing the replica, the leaflet stated: "On the obverse, under the legend, 'No Contraband,' there is a representation of the Lusitania sinking. The designer has put in guns and airplanes, which has been certified by United States Government officials after inspection) the

Lusitania did not carry, but conveniently omitted to put in the women and children, which the world knows she did carry.

"On the reverse, under the legend, 'Business Above All,' the figure of Death sits at the booking office of the Cunard Line and gives out tickets to passengers, who refuse to attend to the warning against submarines given out by a German. This picture seeks apparently to propound the theory that if a murderer warns his victim of his intention, the guilt of the crime will rest with the victim, not with the murderer."

Britain has a greater need of aircraft than men to fly them.

ON GUARD DUTY

The seven active service units available already are on duty guarding Canadian territory. Personnel from these units probably could be released as rapidly as recruits from the reserve could be trained to take their places.

Canada is in poor position to send airplanes overseas with the airmen as there are few enough first line modern machines to guard Canadian territory. Canadian factories are working to capacity to turn out machines for both Canadian and Imperial air forces. Canadians may "ferry" some of the Canadian-built bombers across the North Atlantic to British squadrons.

Air Vice-Marshal G. M. Croll is the head of the R.C.A.F., but it is uncertain whether he would command an overseas air force contingent or would be retained here for administrative duties. He has a number of experienced officers, such as Air Commodore L. S. Breadner, Wing Commander G. V. Walsh, Group Captain A. E. Godfrey and others, who might be selected in his stead.

JUST THE SAME

"The boys" had made a habit of meeting every evening for a chat over their doings, but recently many of the old faces had disappeared as their owners got work in different parts of the country.

One evening, Bill and Bob found themselves alone and began to talk over old times.

"That reminds me!" said Bill. "What happened to White after he failed as an architect?"

"Oh," replied Bob, "he went on the stage."

"How's he doing there?"

"Still drawing poor houses," was Bob's unkind reply.

Roy went down on his knees to flick away the grey rim of dust and Elizabeth said, rather pathetically, "I don't do it—it's spoiling." But she was not thinking of her frock.

The youngest member of the party suggested Postman's Knock.

"Let's be thoroughly young," she pleaded with all the sophistication of sixteen.

"It's a silly game," Elizabeth objected, but she was overruled by Roy.

"Don't be superior, darling," he said gaily. And she answered, wistfully, "I've promised Roy."

"Darling, don't I always do as you wish?"

She laughed, then, and dodged past him and back into the room.

The fun went on for some time, till at last even Barbara declared they must go home.

It was three o'clock when the game finished, and as they said their good nights at the open door, Elizabeth thought that the garden looked like a fairy garden, with its tall, dark trees and clustering hedges, and the pale moonlight casting an air of mystery everywhere.

She started when Kim Lawless spoke beside her.

"Is it too much to hope that you will drive home with me?"

She glanced at him and away. "Thank you, I've promised Roy."

"Very well," he said quietly. "But there is always tomorrow."

Elizabeth led the way down the narrow stairs, her white frock trailing behind her. She felt breathless as if she had been running a losing race, but she went on ahead of the others and arrived laughing in the big dining-room.

"Here we are," she cried. "But there's no ghost—only lumber and moonlight." She wrenched herself free of the hands which would have detained her, and pulled open the latched door.

"We've found the ghost," one of the new arrivals announced. She chuckled. "It was only Bennie dressed up in sheets and with flour on his face. Everyone is downstairs except you two, so we've organized a search party in case you'd been spirited away."

She glanced admiringly at Kim. "But it would take more than one poor little ghost to spirit you away," she added.

Par Takes Lacing As Play Opens in U.S. Amateur Golf

Harry H. Haverstick, Jr., Sets Hot Pace With 68, Four Under Perfect Figures—Sandy Somerville Leads Canadian Contingent—Eight Players Bracketed With Scores of 70

CHICAGO, Sept. 11 (AP)—Drum-majoring by a twenty-one-year-old college senior, Harry H. Haverstick, Jr., a parade of youth that included six Canadians opened the United States amateur golf championship, forty-third show at North Shore course today.

Haverstick clipped five strokes off par on the incoming nine and turned in a sensational four-under-par 68. This performance left him two shots ahead of eight others bracketed with 70s. More than a dozen others were in position to challenge for medalist honors in tomorrow's eighteen-hole windup of the qualifying programme.

Bracketed at 70 were Don Schumacher and Harry Todd, Dallas, Tex.; Tom Sheehan, Northville, Mich.; Capt. Ken Rogers, of Montgomery, Ala.; Maurice McCarthy, Cincinnati; Albert Campbell, Seattle; Johnny Goodman, Omaha, Neb.; former amateur and national open champion, and Harold Mandly, Westfield, Conn.

LEADS CANADIANS

Among the next group was C. Ross (Sandy) Somerville, of London, Ont., champion in 1932, who led the Canadian contingent with one under par, 33-38-71.

Right back of Sandy was Joe Thompson, diminutive campaigner from Burlington, Ont., who put together 36's for 72. Merlyn Luther, of Fort Erie, Ont., fired 38-42-80; Phil Farley, of Toronto, 39-36-75; Ed Sams, of Fort Erie, Ont., 43-39-82; and Howard Jones, of Burlington, Ont., 42-40-82.

Sams and Jones were the only Canadians who missed a chance to continue in tomorrow's qualifying play, a score of 81 today being good enough for the qualifying windup which will send the low sixty-four scorers into match play on Wednesday.

Wins Golfing Title At Jasper Park

R. W. GIBSON

EIGHTY-one-year-old Victoria golfer, who stroked his way to the senior championship of the Canadian Rockies, at Jasper Park course, Long, straight drives down the fairways, coupled with deadly accuracy on the greens, brought the local veteran through to victory. The competition was held in conjunction with the annual Toilem Poie tournament.

OLYMPIC FUND FOR SOLDIERS

Money Donated for Games Will Purchase Sports Equipment

HAMILTON, Ont., Sept. 11 (AP)—Money raised by the Canadian Olympic committee through the "dollar-for-dollar" campaign to send Canadian athletes to the 1940 Olympic Games will, instead, be used in supplying sports equipment for enlisted soldiers in Ontario, an emergency meeting of available members of the Canadian Olympic committee decided here tonight.

The meeting, under direction of President P. J. Mulqueen, said that in view of impossibility of Canada participating in the 1940 Games, scheduled to be held in Finland and Germany, it was felt contributors to the "dollar-for-dollar" campaign—a fund established only in Ontario—would be willing to have the money turned towards recreation facilities and equipment of soldiers.

The money, raised by sending $1 bills to citizens and asking them to add another dollar and send the money to the Olympic committee, will be turned over to the Sportsmen's Patriotic Association.

DOEG LEADS OVER QUIST

American Netter Has One Game Advantage When Darkness Halts Play

FOREST HILLS, N.Y., Sept. 11 (AP)—The United States tennis championships appeared to be on the verge of a four-star upset when darkness settled on the stadium courts tonight and forced the officials to pull Johnny Doeg away from a slendered Adrian Quist.

Doeg pounded his cannon ball across to win the first set 8-7, eased up a bit as he dropped the second, 2-6, and took the third, 8-6. It was announced their third-round match would be completed before the start of tomorrow's regular programme.

Frankie Parker beat Charles Hays, of England, 6-4, 6-2, 5-6, 7-5, and Jack Bromberg, of Australia, beat Morey Lewis, Canadian singles champion from Texarkana, 7-5, 6-4, 6-1.

Kay Stammers, of England, defeated Marta Barnett, of Miami, 6-0, 6-0, and Helen Jacobs ousted Norma Taubie, of New York, 6-2, 6-0.

VICTORIA CLUB BEATS COLWOOD
Scores Victory in Bigger-Staff Wilson Trophy Inter-Club Golf Match

Mashie welders from the Victoria Golf Club scored victories at home and away over Royal Colwood Golf Club players in the second half of the annual inter-club matches for the Biggerstaff Wilson Trophy, and by so doing retained the handsome silverware.

Playing on their home links, "B" players defeated the visitors, 24½ to 4½, while at Colwood the Victoria "A" squad marked up a 17-15 triumph. The margin for the trophy holders was eighteen points. In the first half matches played earlier in the year, Victoria established a fifteen-point lead, and finished the series with a thirty-three point advantage.

Ken Lawson and E. S. Horsman defeated W. Newcombe and G. K. Verley in both singles and four-somes, in the feature match of the day in the "A" series. The battle was keen all of the way, with the winners having to shoot close to par to come out on top.

BOB BURNS HAS HUMOROUS ROLE
Stars in "Our Leading Citizen" Which Will Open on Dominion Screen Today

Bob Burns turns to drama in his new film, "Our Leading Citizen," which will open today at the Dominion Theatre.

But Bob has not shed the home-spun ways which endeared him to the hearts of moviegoers when he appeared as the "traveler" in "The Arkansas Traveler," and as the shrewd Missouri "mule trader" in "I'm From Missouri!" In this picture, Bob is cast as a lawyer who has practiced law in a thriving American city for many years. As a result of a problem which arises in his community, Bob has to bring his mellow, practical American philosophy to bear on it. And Bob plays the role as only he could play it.

OAK BAY The unique distinction of having played in every Cecil B. De Mille picture since "The Squaw Man" twenty-five years ago belongs to weatherbeaten old Tex Driscoll, who returned to Paramount, for sentimental reasons, to take part in De Mille's "Union Pacific," now at the Oak Bay Theatre. Driscoll figures in a cast headed by Barbara Stanwyck and Joel McCrea.

Action in Davis Cup Doubles Play

WHILE the decisive match in the Davis Cup finals between United States and Australia was the Bromwich-Parker affair, the really "Crooshul" tilt turned up earlier in the day when Adrian Quist took on Bobby Riggs. With two singles victories in hand, the Yankee netters looked to have the cup at their mercy as these two took the court. Riggs had swamped Bromwich and Quist had been beaten by Parker. But Riggs appears to have reckoned without the genius born of desperation that Quist could and did call on. Before the United States No. 1 player looked around, he was down two sets, and though he did put on a drive that evened the match he was eventually beaten in the fifth set. This doubles match was played earlier in the series. Jack Kramer (left foreground) is making a return to the Australian team of Adrian Quist (left background) and John Bromwich. Kramer's partner is Joe Hunt. The Australians won, three sets to one.

Vancouver English Rugby Union Plans To Operate League
Decides to "Carry On" Despite the War and Consequent Weakening of Various Teams—Military Will Be Approached—No Local Action

VANCOUVER, Sept. 11 (CP).—English Rugby will carry on this winter, despite the war and the consequent weakening of various teams on account of players enlisted. This was definitely decided at a meeting of the Vancouver Rugby Union Board of Control here tonight, when the motion made by club delegates last week to keep the game going was considered by the board and endorsed.

But just how the various competitions will be run was left in abeyance until the next meeting, in order that contact can be made with the various military units here with a view to having them organize teams and join the union. Letters are being sent to the First B.C. Regiment, D.C.C.R., the Irish Fusiliers, 72nd Seaforth Highlanders, and the 15th Field Brigade, R.C.A. If the replies are satisfactory, and teams are formed, it is possible two divisions may be run, one for club teams and the other for military fifteens, or all teams may compete in one division. The Miller and Tisdall Cups will be put up for competition.

NO LOCAL ACTION
While the Mainland body has definitely stated its intention of continuing league play, no action has as yet been taken locally by the Victoria Rugby Union. However, it was intimated from an official source last night, that a meeting will probably be called in the near future to decide just what course shall be taken during the coming season.

Navy and Army fifteens, as far as can be ascertained at present, will not be available for local and inter-city play, but nothing has been learned of the plans of the J.B.A.A. and Oak Bay Wanderers, senior civilian fifteens. A number of local players have been called to the colors, but until such times as the Victoria Rugby Union meets, the immediate future of the game here is a matter of conjecture.

nounced to have been machine-gunned by low-flying planes. He declared that many were killed by the bullets and others were buried after bomb explosions.

SURROUNDED BY BODIES
The battery still was intact after the day's raids, the speaker said, although it was surrounded by bodies of women and children and house wreckage.

Two German bombers were shot down in a fight over the capital amidst "wild" applause of the citizens, he added. The pilots survived.

A German tank which became lost in the fighting was captured near the main square, the speaker said.

WRITE STIRRING CHAPTER
WARSAW, Sept. 11 (CP-Hava).—Women and other non-combatants, running the gauntlet of German bomb blasts, today wrote a stirring chapter in the stubborn defence of Warsaw.

Officials announced Polish troops and newly-formed workers' battalions, supported by powerful artillery fire, had pushed back German attacks in the northwestern and southwestern suburbs.

Heeding appeals of military commanders for all civilians to aid troops in defending the capital, many Warsaw women for the past forty-eight hours have been doing their bit, rushing food and supplies to soldiers in the front lines near the city.

Inside the city proper, thousands of civilians, volunteers co-operated with passive defence squads in helping the wounded and clearing away debris left by bomb explosions.

(A Polish army communiqué issued at Lwow said German forces had withdrawn from the immediate environs of Warsaw after fierce fighting.)

GET WAR NEWS LATE
A number of Germans captured in the Marynowka engagements were brought to Warsaw for questioning.

They said they did not know France and Great Britain declared war on Germany, and that hostilities had been under way for a week on the Western Front. They carried copies of German newspapers, including the Volkischer Beobachter, Nazi party organ, which had apparently been printed exclusively for circulation among German troops on the Eastern Front.

Polish officials said today the German radio and press claims that Warsaw had fallen led to the capture of a number of German officers, who, believing the broadcast, calmly proceeded by automobile to one of the barricades erected in Warsaw's suburbs. They were taken prisoners before they realized Polish soldiers were manning the defence.

FAIL IS PREDICTED
BERLIN, Sept. 11 (AP).—The fall of Warsaw is considered imminent here. The desperately fighting Polish army, German officials say, is hopelessly trapped by the High Command's "vice" method.

Official statements, however, increasingly mention the "stubbornly resisting" Poles.

Army advisers said that the bridge across the Vistula River between Warsaw and Modlin Fortress, eighteen miles northwest of Warsaw, was under heavy artillery fire in several places between Radom, sixty miles south of Warsaw, and the capital. Polish troops were also reported caught by the German "vice."

There have been no figures indicating the number of casualties in the dramatic struggle over the Polish capital.

CLAIM LOMZA TAKEN
Army advisers reported troops advancing from East Prussia had taken Lomza, eighty miles north and east of Warsaw, and had forced their way across the Narew River at Wlznia, nearby.

Another section of the theatre of war where Germans claimed success was in West Poland, where the city of Poznan, capital of the province of the same name, was reported about to fall to German arms.

The German army was reported at Jaroslau on the San River in the south, and informed sources claimed it was practically at the border of the Polish Ukraine, in the southeast.

The Polish port of Gdynia, across the harbor from Danzig, was still in Polish hands. Its resistance has prevented Germany from gaining complete control of the disputed corridor.

"BEAU GESTE" WILL BE AT CAPITOL THURSDAY
Co-starring Gary Cooper, Ray Milland and Robert Preston are the brothers "Geste." Paramount's new adventure—cramped, excitement-filled production of "Beau Geste" will be presented to local audiences for the first time on Thursday at the Capitol Theatre.

Based on the great novel by P. C. Wren, the picture tells the roving, lusty story of three gallant brothers who endure danger and hardship in the French Foreign Legion because their loyalty to each other will not permit the finger of suspicion to point to any one of them as guilty of the theft of a valuable sapphire, stolen from their guardian.

Son of President Predicts Early Change in American Neutrality Law

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 11 (AP)—Elliott Roosevelt, in an interview here Saturday said the present Neutrality Act is "virtually certain" to be changed at a special session of the United States Congress and there also is a "grave possibility" the United States may enter the European conflict on the side of the Allies.

"While I am one of many millions who want this nation to stay out of war," the President's son declared, "in my opinion, if we wait, and it appears Germany is winning it may be too late to do any good. We are too far away."

"If Germany wins she will immediately strip England of her colonies and that will be a direct violation of the Monroe Doctrine which we have always insisted upon. Should Germany, for instance, demand British Guiana, in Northern South America, we would have to fight."

"The lightning war Germany predicted has already failed. The Polish army is still intact. My advice is to watch Italy and Russia, particularly Italy. And in Poland watch for guerrilla warfare. The Poles will sever German lines of communication and the deeper into Poland Germany penetrates the longer will those lines necessarily become."

SEES GROWING PRESSURE
Roosevelt intimated that the influence of munition manufacturers would have much to do with changing the Neutrality Act.

"In this country we have many manufacturers who would like to sell their munitions and materials used in war, and if a strict embargo in shipments even to normally neutral countries like Canada is maintained, it stands to reason United States capital and labor will move to Canada, where factories, especially aircraft, can be constructed and operated within three or four months.

"We could then only ship raw materials, and the question comes to mind whether we shall be neutral or should we allow capital and labor to move or keep it here."

"We should make the law flexible enough to meet conditions. Cash-and-carry seems to be the idea and many Democrats who originally favored the existing law, as well as many Republicans, notably Mr. Taft (Senator Robert A. Taft, Rep. Ohio), are changing their views."

FIELD DAY HAS BEEN POSTPONED

It was decided at a meeting of the St. John Ambulance field day committee, held recently, to postpone the St. John Ambulance field day, scheduled for September 30 at the Armoury.

The cups, trophies and prizes donated by the businessmen of this city have been placed in trust with the secretary of the British Columbia Association, Union Building, Victoria. It is with regret that this field day has to be postponed, but owing to increased activities actuated by present circumstances, the above committee feel that they cannot properly organize this day.

MUSIC CRITIC DEAD

FRANCONIA, N.H., Sept. 9 (AP)—Lawrence Gilman, sixty-one, one of the leading music critics of the United States, and for many years a member of the staff of The New York Herald-Tribune, died at his summer home last night after a heart attack.

Shadow of European Conflict Prominent In Kiwanis Speeches

Annual Convention of Pacific Northwest District Gets Under Way—Friendship of Canada and United States Stressed in War Talk

THE shadow of the present European war loomed over the annual Pacific Northwest district convention of Kiwanis as general business sessions got under way yesterday at the Empress Hotel. Although welcoming addresses were couched in terms of traditional good cheer and humor, the thought uppermost in every mind found expression as each speaker touched on the troubled state of the world today.

The affinity between Kiwanians of Canada and the United States, and its bearing on the relations of these two countries was stressed when Charles F. Riddell, Seattle, past district governor of Kiwanis, in replying to the morning's address of welcome at the opening of the convention, declared: "If the dictates of a just God require us to stand beside them (Canadian Kiwanis), they may know that the job will be well done this time, so that the blood of America will never again be offered on the altar of freedom."

Approximately 700 delegates from States stands behind the British Empire." Commenting on the friendly relations existing between the peoples of Canada and the United States, he hoped the delegates would find their stay in Victoria pleasurable.

Welcome on behalf of the Victoria club was voiced by Austin I. Curtis, local president, who said he did so "as a Canadian welcoming our American cousins." Introduction of International and district officers preceded the unveiling of the convention theme, "Citizenship Responsibility, the Price of Liberty," by girls in Highland dress, while Pierre Timp, Victoria, sang "God Bless America."

Bennett O. Knudson, president of Kiwanis International, who spoke on the subject, "Kiwanis 1939-40," emphasized the peace and mutual understanding that obtained between the United States and Canada. "We Kiwanians in the United States always extend the hand of mercy and kindness to you in Canada, and we do so with the thought that when the time comes we will likewise extend the hand of helpfulness and assistance," he declared.

WAY TO PERPETUAL PEACE

Stating that in most of the great nations of today the people had no voice in their affairs, and dictators only respect treaties if it suits them to do so, Mr. Knudson said that "as long as our people own their governments, there will always be perpetual peace between our two great nations."

Following district and financial reports, and a motion picture display of the dedication of the fifteenth Kiwanis Boundary Peace Tablet at Paterson, B.C., addresses on "Promoters of Peace" and "Shall Good Will Perish?" were given by R. George McCullish, International trustee from Vancouver, and Dr. D. Buchanan, dean of the University of British Columbia, respectively.

Dean Buchanan blamed the degradation in the recognition of international law and the lack of Christian principles for the present war. The change in Germany was due to the education of German youth, who were taught to believe in the supremacy of the Fatherland, he said, and it had been possible because Germans were among the most glib people in the world.

"Education, religion and all other finer things have been suppressed for that one view that Hitler would proceed to dominate the world," he stated.

After luncheon, the delegates spent the afternoon participating in discussions arising out of a number of brief addresses by various speakers on different aspects of Kiwanis work and interests.

DINNER GATHERING

At dinner at 6:30 in the hotel ballroom and adjoining lounge, the delegates were joined by their wives and ladies of the convention, and listened to an address by Pitcairn Hoag, K.C., legislative counsel for British Columbia on "Constitutional Monarchy and Republican Forms of Government Compared."

Mr. Hoag described the functions and powers of both governments, and compared the elective and hereditary natures of the head of such countries. He declared his object to be to show that regardless of the name under which the United States and the British Empire function, both systems achieve the same results, "a system whereby the will of the majority of the citizens can be made to prevail."

Entertainment at the dinner was provided by the Elizabeth Singers of Victoria—Miss Dorothy Parsons, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Townsend and Dudley Wicket—and youthful Moreno Tando, from Renton, Wash., who gave selections on the piano accordion. Bouquets were presented to Mrs. Phil Warnock, Everett, and Mrs. Clint Harley, Seattle, each of whom celebrated yesterday the thirty-seventh anniversary of their wedding.

Yesterday's proceedings were wound up with the grand governor's ball held after the dinner and attended by close to 1,000 guests.

Most of the delegates arrived on Sunday and attended divine service at Christ Church Cathedral, where they were addressed by Dean S. H. Elliott.

Convention sessions will reconvene this morning, and election of officers will highlight the many business matters to be dealt with. After luncheon a golf tournament will be held at the Oak Bay course, and a motor drive to Hatley Park is also on the programme. This evening a district banquet will precede an "aquacade" at the Crystal Garden, which will be followed by dancing.
